

VWR has become a global leader by offering customers single-source access to the most respected brands in scientific equipment, instruments, supplies, furniture and chemicals, as well as exclusive products offered as part of the VWR Collection. VWR offers over 750,000 proven products from more than 5,000 leading scientific product manufacturers. The company markets to a global clientele using the resources of over 6,000 employees, a comprehensive library of catalogs and a content-driven, easy-to-use website — www.vwr.com.

By applying Total Quality principles, VWR has been able to lower costs, provide better turnaround on orders, achieve the highest fill rate in the industry and sustain an accuracy level of 99.8%. Their customer fulfillment center in Bridgeport, NJ was the first VWR location to achieve ISO 9001:2000 certification and now have expanded the scope of certification to include additional facilities in AZ, CA, CO, NM, OR, TX and WA.

By providing a high level of quality, technology, dependability and responsiveness, the discoveries of tomorrow will continue to be in laboratories supplied by VWR today.
