

Faculty Development Endowment Funds Final Report

Kwangok Song, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of Literacy Studies
Department of Teacher Education

May 8, 2015

1) Original travel and/or scholarly plan

I had planned to present three papers at 2015 American Education Research Association conference in Chicago, IL between April 16, 2015 and April 20, 2015.

2) Actual travel and/or scholarly activities

I presented two papers on April 16, 2015 and one on April 20, 2015 at 2015 American Education Research Association conference in Chicago, IL.

The titles of three presentations are as follows:

1. "Promoting Heritage Language Learning: Hybrid Literacy Practices of Korean Families Raising Young Children in America"
2. "A Multimodal Literacy Perspective on Korean Bilingual Children's Literacy Practices at Home"
3. Students as Psycholinguists: Enacting Roles as Cultural Explorers and Language Aficionados through a Pinterest Activity

3) Outcomes

I had written three papers for the presentations, and all of three presentations were well received by the participants in the sessions.

4) Future Plans

I will revise the papers and submit them for publications.