WELCOME LETTER

Dear Students:

Welcome to Arkansas State University, home of the Red Wolves! We are pleased you have chosen A-State. We value your trust and strive continually to meet your needs to the very best of our ability.

I hope you will find this guide and the registration program helpful now and in the days to come. Our presenters are here to answer your questions and assist however possible.

The campus living experience adds an extra dimension to college life and we constantly work to provide that opportunity to as many students as possible. To help meet the demand for housing, five sorority houses were recently completed, along with expansion of the Honors Living-Learning Community. This adds to the substantial number of campus housing options already available to students.

The Student Leadership Center is a source for opportunities to develop your leadership skills through participation in student organizations and activities. Through these groups, you will expand your network of friends, and academic and professional contacts. Visit the Student Leadership Center website for an overview of the programs, organizations and opportunities available.

Finally, get to know your Student Government Association (SGA) representatives and share with them your comments and concerns. SGA is a constituency group in the shared governance process at A-State, and is the representative voice for students in university matters.

I wish you the best for a successful academic year in 2015-2016.

William R. Stripling, Ph.D.
Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

Dear New Student,

Welcome to Arkansas State University. New Student Registration is intended to support you in the transition to college life. There are many exciting and interesting programs and services offered at Arkansas State University. Throughout your session, you will have the opportunity to meet other incoming students, learn about student life on our campus, and interact with faculty and staff from various academic disciplines and departments.

I encourage you to use this guide as a reference throughout your time at Arkansas State. This Information Guide is filled with valuable material for you and your family, and is created to serve as a resource for student expectations at A-State.

The Pack Leader student staff has been preparing for your arrival for several months and they are eager to assist you through the day. These students are involved in many aspects of campus life and maintain a high academic standard. Please feel free to visit with any of them should you have any questions regarding student life at Arkansas State.

ARKANSAS STATE POST OFFICE BOX

A-State has its own USPS located on campus. In order to receive any mail or packages (including online book ordering), each student must rent his/her own post office box. In order to receive mail, a student must have an official P.O. box. There is NOT mail service to the residence halls or anywhere else on campus. Students need to bring one state-issued ID and A-State ID number, along with cash or check payable to "Postmaster." Stop by the USPS during registration to avoid long lines in August.

USPS has a new, free service in which you may register for when you rent your P.O. box. They now have package pick-up from other couriers (FedEx, UPS, etc.) at your post office box; "Real Mail Notification," which will send an email or text when new mail arrives in your P.O. box; and the "Signature on File" option, so packages can be placed in a parcel locker without your signature. Also, automatic renewal payments can be scheduled so you can keep your same P.O. box for the next year. Register for any (or all) of these services when you rent your P.O. box.

The university environment can be exciting and challenging. It also can be highly stressful because you may face academic pressures as well as pressures from family, friends and loved ones at the same time. While we work with students who may be experiencing a crisis, our goal is to help you deal with your concerns before they develop into more serious problems.

Psychologists and counselors, counseling interns and counseling practicum students perform Counseling Center services. All professional staff are licensed and services are always performed by those whose skills and training are appropriate to the task.

The Counseling Center is a department within the division of Student Affairs. Our mission is to provide services not just at the Center, but also to the entire A-State community.

Center staff members provide lectures and workshops at sites across campus, in the residence halls and to student organizations. Center staff members are also available for consultation to academic departments and other university offices. In addition, staff members sometimes teach courses offered through the University College and the College of Education & Behavioral Sciences.

The A-State Counseling Center is fully accredited by the International Association of Counseling Services (IACS).

DINING SERVICES

SODEXO CAMPUS DINING SERVICES • RENG STUDENT UNION • ROOM 1007 F • 870.972.2059

MONDAY - FRIDAY 7 a.m. - 5 p.m.

RESIDENTIAL DINING

ACANSA DINING HALL offers classic menus to remind you of Mom's home cooking, such as fried chicken, beef stew, and macaroni and cheese. Our chef also presents international dishes from authentic recipes, such as tortellini in cream sauce and stir-fried chicken and rice.

There are many choices for the diner at breakfast, lunch and dinner, including a large salad bar, sandwiches and wraps, grill items, pizza, fresh-baked desserts, assorted beverages, fresh fruit and soft-serve ice cream. Our Aspretto Coffee will give you that extra burst in the morning and keep you warm on chilly days. Breakfast can be a full, hearty selection like biscuits and gravy, or just fruit and a muffin – it's your choice!

During the school year, we also present special events when the menu is specific to a holiday or type of food. For example, we feature an upscale Valentine's Day dinner, birthday parties each month, a fabulous Thanksgiving dinner, and even baseball park-themed food on our baseball season opener day.

Our dining plans feature maximum accessibility and convenience for busy students with unlimited access from 7 a.m. -9 p.m. throughout the week. Visit Acansa Dining Hall as many times as you want during a day, without spending more than your initial investment. Dining plans are in effect for the academic semester, except for official academic breaks and the period between academic semesters. Dining plans are non-refundable. However, if you purchase Flex dollars in the fall semester, any dollars left over will roll over into your new plan, if you purchase a dining plan with Flex dollars in the spring.

There are two meal plan options for freshmen living on campus, which are purchased at the same time you purchase your residential accommodations.

The seven-day plan offers just what you would expect: unlimited access to Acansa dining hall, seven days a week during hours of operation. This is our most economical plan, perfect for the students who spend most of their time on campus. You can add even more flexibility by choosing the seven-day plus Flex dollars plan, giving you access to the Food Court and other retail dining areas.

The five-day plan operates the same as the seven-day plan, but is designed for the student who prefers to eat on campus Monday through Friday. If you travel on the weekends, this plan will make for value-sense for you. And just like the seven-day plan, there is a five-day plan that includes Flex dollars for maximum flexibility.

Flex dollars act as a declining debit on your student account and are tax exempt, saving you nine percent in Jonesboro. Flex dollars can be used at any dining location on campus — Acansa Dining Hall, the Food Court, Simply to Go, Starbucks and Campus Store.

Upperclassmen and students living off-campus have the option of choosing one of the traditional five- or seven-day plans, or a Voluntary Meal Plan. These plans consist of a varying number of block meals and Flex dollars. Voluntary Meal Plans are the ideal option for students who don't have time to leave campus for lunch, only need to come to campus a few days a week, or don't want to lose that perfect parking spot.

DISABILITY SERVICES

RENG STUDENT UNION • ROOM 2181 • 870.972.3964 • MONDAY - FRIDAY 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

THE GOAL OF DISABILITY SERVICES

Disability Services (DS) is committed to providing opportunities in higher education for students with disabilities who demonstrate reasonable ability for college success. DS staff strives to ensure access for students with disabilities in compliance with Sections 504 and 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act as amended (ADAAA). A-State offers a variety of support services so students with disabilities are admitted and integrated as completely as possible into the university. Responsibility is shared with the student for requesting modification of campus facilities and programs to meet individual needs. Students are asked to make DS aware of any academic or architectural barriers they encounter.

Students registered with Disability Services have access to resources that will enable them to manage academic activities in the university setting, which includes testing, note taking, golf cart and assistive technology accommodations. Auxiliary aids, accessible facilities and buildings, and reasonable accommodations are provided for students in the classroom as required. Accessible workstations are also available in various academic computer labs.

DS is a student-centered, service-oriented department that encourages A-State students to gain volunteer experiences. Currently, more than 415 students volunteer through DS each year. Students with and without disabilities are encouraged to volunteer their time. Volunteerism includes (but is not limited to) tutoring, mentoring, providing mobility access, note taking and being a peer assistant.

Dr. Jenifer Rice-Mason serves as the director of Disability Services and the ADA coordinator for Arkansas State University. She is responsible for addressing compliance issues involving disability laws and coordinating university policies and procedures concerning individuals with disabilities. As director, Dr. Rice-Mason endeavors to enable the university to move forward to enhance the environment and opportunities for persons with disabilities.

Please feel free to contact Dr. Rice-Mason at 870.972.3964 and/or visit us online at AState.edu/Disability or in the Reng Student Services Center Room 2181.

FINANCIAL AID/SCHOLARSHIPS

FINANCIAL AID/SCHOLARSHIP OFFICE • RENG STUDENT UNION • ROOM 2078
870.972.2310 • MONDAY - FRIDAY 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Welcome to the Arkansas State University Financial Aid and Scholarship Office. We work to meet individual student's financial needs by providing resources to students who would otherwise be unable to pursue a college education. We are located on the second floor of the Carl R. Reng Student Union between the Office of Residence Life and the Office of Recruitment. Our office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Financial Aid and Scholarship Office coordinates the awarding of grants, scholarships, loans and work-study funds to provide a comprehensive financial aid package for our students. You may find additional information about institutional scholarships, privately funded scholarships, state student aid and federal student aid at AState.edu/FinAid or by calling our office at 870.972.2310, or e-mailing us at FinAid@AState.edu.

Students must apply for federal student aid by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each year. The form is available on line at fafsa.ed.gov after January 1. Students also must maintain satisfactory academic progress each year to continue receiving federal and state financial aid. If you have questions concerning these requirements, please contact our office or go to our website to find the satisfactory academic progress policy.

Students who have received institutional scholarships from the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships at Arkansas State University have specific requirements to renew their scholarship each year. Most A-State institutional scholarships require that students enroll and pass a total of 30 hours per year (15 hours fall term and 15 hours spring term). If you must drop one of your classes, please contact us to discuss available options. If you have questions about the requirements to maintain your scholarship, please contact our office or go to the website to find additional information about your scholarship requirements.

If you have received the Arkansas Challenge/Lottery Scholarship, you must complete at least 12 hours your first semester and 15 hours every semester thereafter. Also, you must maintain a cumulative 2.50 GPA each year to retain the scholarship. You may find additional information at the Arkansas Department of Higher Education website at adhe.edu.

Once again, welcome to Arkansas State University. We are happy you are here and look forward to serving you over the next four years.

THE FIRST YEAR EXPERIENCE

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE • DEAN B. ELLIS LIBRARY • 870.972.3574

Welcome to a great first-year experience at A-State.

Your first year at college is not only exciting and different, but in many ways it will set the tone for your entire college career. You want to make new friends, get to know professors, develop good study and problem-solving skills, learn to use the library and research information, and manage your time in a way that allows you to make good grades and have time for campus involvement. The First-Year Experience at A-State is designed to help you do just that.

An important part of the overall first-year experience at Arkansas State is the Making Connections class for all entering first-year students. Depending on your major, you may have a course by a different name; however, the idea behind all courses is the same – skills for college success. We also believe it is important that you make connections with a faculty member and other students. Therefore, this course is designed and taught in a way to allow you to interact with peers. Your instructor will not only teach the class, but serve as a mentor to you and your classmates, and may even be your academic adviser.

Most Making Connections classes are part of an academic learning community. Meaning, you and the other members of your class will share common enrollment in another introductory or general education class. When you attend this class, you will already have a group of “friends” with whom to study, share notes and discuss assignments. Additionally, many of these friends may share your residence hall as part of the FYRE or First-Year Residential Experience.

Academic Affairs and Student Affairs have been working together to make the first year for A-State students as positive and supportive as possible with first-year residence halls, providing Making Connections courses for all students, and making faculty members and administrators more available to students. All that’s left is you and your commitment to making your first year an academic and personal success. Welcome to Arkansas State - we’re very glad you’re here.
