Orchids

- The following slide shows small orchids which we have for sale. They are the cross of the 2 plants shown. Some of them started blooming this winter. Others should begin blooming next year.

- One of the new seedlings is shown also.

- If you purchase one of them, please take a picture of the flowers and send them to me. We are trying to document the different flower colors that we get from these crosses.

Thanks,

- Dr. Kim Pittcock
Hybrid Cattleya Orchid Seedlings

Kim’s white—Small plant, blooms 2-3 times per season, flowers held in cascade

Candice—Tall plant, very fragrant, blooms once usually in September.

These seedlings are a result of crosses between these two parents and produced via Tissue Culture. Seedlings are either hybrid 1.- Kim (mom) x Candice (dad) or hybrid 2. Candice (mom) x Kim (dad).

We hope you’ll be successful blooming them, and you should anticipate that the progeny will have colors, heights, and fragrance somewhere between the two parents.
