AWARDED GRANTS AND RESEARCH SUPPORT

- $375,000.00. The Fulbright Afghanistan Re-Entry Project. We received $125,000.00 each year from spring 2014 through spring 2017. The Re-Entry program focused on social entrepreneurship and the difficulties international students face when leaving the United States and returning home. I was principal investigator along with Leyah Bergman Lanier, Rochelle Keogh, Rogelio Contreras, and Carol Reeves. U.S. Department of State’s Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs as part of the Fulbright Program, the U.S. government’s flagship international exchange program, supported by the U.S. and partner countries around the world. The program is administered by the Institute for International Education (IIE).
- $375,000.00. The Fulbright Afghanistan Entry Project. We received $125,000.00 each year from fall 2014 through fall 2017. The entry program focused on social and political movements in the United States as well as understanding the higher education system in America. I was principal investigator along with Leyah Bergman Lanier and Rochelle Keogh.
- $20,000. Expansion of student mobility program between Institute Polytechnique LaSalle-Beauvais and the University of Arkansas related to Food, Nutrition, Culinary Sciences and Geological Sciences. I am co-principle investigator along with Jean Fracios Meullenet, Mike Vayda, Leslie Edgar, and DeDe Long.
- Over $20,000,000.00 beginning March 2012 and distributed through several cohorts of students. “Pre-Academic Training Program for Undergraduate Panamanian Scholars.” This collaboration is between the University of Arkansas and SENACYT (Secretaria Nacional De Ciencia, Tecnologia y Innovation) to create a pathway program for selected Panamanian public high school students. The pathway program consists of three phases. The first phase of the program emphasizes English language proficiency, college level study skills, leadership development and confidence building. During the second phase of the program, students continue their study of English and enroll in two or three academic courses, such as an introduction to business or engineering course, a science course, or a mathematics course. Students in this stage have academic mentors and tutors to facilitate their success. In the third stage, students are fully enrolled in their academic program. Academic mentoring, leadership development and engagement, and retention activities continue. I am principal investigator along with Lynn Mossesso, Pat Koski, Bryan Hill, Leyah Bergman-Lanier, Moez Limayem, and Charles Robinson.

- $100,000 distributed over several weeks during the summer of 2014 “Washington Fellowship for Young African Leaders.” Sub-grant to be administered by IREX and funded by U.S. State Department, Bureau of Education and Cultural Affairs (ECA). Project to be delivered in partnership with the Graduate School, Fulbright College, The Clinton School of Public Service and Spring International Language Center. The institute is designed to provide an intensive six-week professional training program for young African leaders in the areas of public management, leadership and development. I was principal investigator.
- $100,000 distributed over several weeks during the summer of 2014. “English Language Educator Training Project (ELET)” sponsored by the Public Affairs Office, U.S. Embassy, Baghdad. Institute to be conducted at the University of Arkansas, in partnership with the Graduate School and Spring International Language Center, is designed to provide intensive professional development training for Iraqi English language educators from Kirkuk. I was principal investigator.
- $115,000 distributed over three years from spring 2010 through spring 2012. This was a partnership with the Rockefeller Institute to conduct conferences and southern surveys related to the changing political and policy landscape in the contemporary South. I was co-principal investigator.
- $600,000 distributed over six years from fall 2008 through 2014. Breaking Barriers (B²): Pathways to Graduation for Underrepresented Talent. Funded by the National Science Foundation. This research tracks the progress of underrepresented students in science and technology fields as they are recruited, retained and move toward graduation at the University of Arkansas. I was co-principal investigator.
- $205,710 distributed over several months from spring 2011 through fall 2011. Teaching Excellence and Achievement: Training Program for Pre-Service Teachers. Funded by the International Research and Exchanges Board (IREX). This is a partnership between the Graduate School and Spring International Language Center. It is a sub-award from the State Department designed to provide pre-service teachers from Turkey with additional training in English as a second language while also broadening their knowledge of teaching strategies through enriching cross-cultural experiences at the University of Arkansas. I was principal investigator.
- $29,000 distributed in fall 2005. State Legislative appropriation for the Diane D. Blair Center of Southern Politics and Society and the David and Barbara Pryor Center for Arkansas Oral and Visual History.
