Summary

Accomplished academic and public history leader with over 20 years of experience in higher education, cultural resource management (CRM), and national service. Currently serving as Professor and Chair of the History Department and Associate Director of the Heritage Studies Ph.D. Program at Arkansas State University. Demonstrated success in academic leadership, including faculty mentorship, curriculum development, enrollment growth, and interdisciplinary collaboration.

In addition to academic administration, I bring significant experience managing historical divisions within private-sector CRM firms, leading multidisciplinary teams on federally funded preservation, compliance, and military heritage projects across the United States and U.S. territories. My background bridges academic scholarship with applied practice, offering a rare blend of strategic planning, personnel management, and operational oversight.

Widely recognized for public engagement, applied research, and strategic communication, with a sustained commitment to inclusive excellence and student success. Former Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army and active contributor to national conversations on military affairs, cultural heritage in conflict, and public policy.
