SCIENCE EDUCATION – David Hayes (second from right), a Ph.D candidate in Environmental Biology at Arkansas State University, works with Cross County High School students (from left) Tony Hargis, Sammy Green, and J.R. Hydrick in Melissa Moore's classroom. Hayes teaches science classes on Fridays at CCHS as part of a program through ASU that utilizes graduate teaching fellows to teach environmental sciences and molecular biosciences to students from kindergarten through grade 12. The program is funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation.
